

California Fire Fight Being Won

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fierce battle to beat back the largest brush fire ever in California was being won today near San Diego while a favorable weather outlook encouraged fire fighters on dozens of other fronts across Southern California.

The death toll from the five-day siege in six counties rose to eight Monday night when a pilot and four fire fighters were killed in a helicopter crash while heading for a fire in the Angeles National Forest outside Los Angeles.

A number of new small fires were blamed on arsonists. Thousands of evacuees returned to their homes. Hundreds had none to return to.

The federal Small Business Administration estimated the over-all property loss in the state at $175 million, with fire damage to 1,500 homes, businesses or other buildings. California was declared a disaster area, making victims eligible for low interest loans.

In Los Angeles and San Diego counties alone, 666 structures were destroyed, including 490 homes, and 336,000 acres—an area half the size of Rhode Island—lay charred by the flames.

Fire fighters began to breathe more easily about a 200,000-acre fire halted Sunday at the outskirts of several San Diego suburbs. But winds helped another major blaze flare up Monday night and race over 10,000 acres of a heavily wooded area, drawing within 10 miles of the main fire. A heat wave that reached 100 degrees was expected to continue.

Elsewhere, winds diminished. Forecasters predicted the air flowing from the high desert east of here would grow weaker north of San Diego County. They held out hope for rising humidity and possibly scattered showers.

Thousands of exhausted fire fighters had been on the lines almost constantly since last week.

Firemen began to gain the upper hand after a five-day battle against flames in hills in Los Angeles and Ventura counties. Few of the fires spread.

Five new fires sprang up Monday but were quickly halted. Three were tentatively laid to arsonists. The number and proximity of many small fires have led authorities to suspect they were set. However, of six persons arrested for investigation of arson, all but one had been released.

Three persons died earlier when caught by the flames.

Middle East Truce Team Worked Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An Arab truce team today monitored the cease-fire in Jordan between government troops and Palestinian guerrillas that was worked out by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The peace force of 100 officers from Egypt, Sudan, Saudi Arabia, Tunisia and Kuwait arrived Monday in Amman, Jordan's capital, and immediately set up truce observation posts. Shooting stopped there at dawn and inhabitants poured into the streets in desperate searches for food and water. There were no new reports of fighting as the Arab world mourned Nasser's death Monday in Cairo.

King Hussein of Jordan called Nasser "my brother" in a cable and said the Egyptian president was "admired by the whole world all his life."

"Nasser's last efforts were to heal Jordan's wounds during its last ordeal ..." the cable said, "but the wounds incurred by his loss will never heal."

The cease-fire agreement, signed Sunday in Cairo by Hussein and Yasir Arafat of the Palestinian guerrilla command brought a halt to Jordan's 11-day civil war. However, some guerrilla broadcasts from different Arab capitals assailed the agreement Monday on the ground that it would weaken the Palestinian movement.

Premier Bahi Ladgham of Tunisia also arrived in Amman Monday to head a truce commission made up of a guerrilla envoy and a representative of King Hussein. The commission's task is to implement the pact.

The agreement provided for the withdrawal of the Jordanian army to its barracks and the guerrillas to positions better suited to carry out their fight against Israel. It also called for the release of guerrilla prisoners by Jordan.

On Monday, the U.S. Air Force flew a 50-bed field hospital into Jordan aboard a fleet of C130 transport planes bearing Red Cross markings. A 60-bed hospital was due later.

A chartered plane also arrived with 12 tons of food given by the United States, and another flew in with 22 tons of food donated by Britain.

Meanwhile, Switzerland announced that it would release three imprisoned Palestinian commandos as soon as the last of the airliner hijacking hostages were evacuated from Jordan.

Diplomatic sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said Sunday the remaining six hostages had been freed and turned over to the Egyptian Embassy in Amman, which has been acting as a go-between for the International Red Cross.

Thirty-three Americans who had been hostages arrived in New York Monday night.

The Swiss government said it agreed with Britain and West Germany on simultaneous release of all seven commandos held by the three nations.

Palestinian guerrillas who hijacked the airliners demanded release of the prisoners as ransom for release of the passengers.

At the United Nations, Israel accused Egypt for the 18th time of violating the cease-fire by moving Soviet missiles near the Suez Canal. Egypt responded that the weapons were defensive and challenged Israel to rejoin the suspended Middle East peace talks.

colonialism.
Third, the mood of the militant Arabs has been ugly since the 1967 war, when Nasser was humiliated by Israel. That memory is now likely to flood back and increase the bitterness.

Fourth, the Arabs—at least the many Arabs who are emotionally involved in the crisis—have long been infuriated by the frustrations their cause has met. Now, with their leader gone and nobody in sight to take his place, many are likely to be on the point of desperation—the sort of desperation that could lead to increasing and often unreasoning violence.

If the violence comes, the vast U.S. interests in the Middle East will be in danger. So will the economy of Europe, much of which now depends upon the free flow of Arab oil. In Arab fury, frequently the first objects of attack are the pipelines through Arab lands to funnel oil to the Mediterranean and Europe.

Derailment on Cotton Belt at Buckner

STAMPS, Ark. (AP)—Thirty-one cars of a Cotton Belt freight train derailed this morning in Buckner, about four miles east of Stamps.

State Police said no one was injured. Authorities said two cars were on fire, one carrying cotton and the other copper bars. Officers said there were chemicals in some of the cars, but that there was no danger to residents of the area.

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Former astronaut John Glenn has been christened Brother Gemini by a Baylor University fun organization and handed a slice of cheese representing a piece of the moon.

Members of the Noze Brotherhood, a 43-year-old campus group, said, "our honored guest is blessed with the presence and essence of a truly nasal character." Glenn was the first American to orbit the earth.

He accepted the gift graciously Monday.

He was at Baylor to address the student body.

Ky Invited to Visit U.S. Later

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials say South Vietnam's President Nguyen Cao Ky is being given an invitation by the Nixon administration for a red-carpet visit to the United States later this year — probably after the Nov. 3 elections.

Although no announcement of the invitation has been made, sources said the new invitation materialized after Ky disclosed Saturday he had changed his mind and would not address the Rev. Carl McIntire's "march for victory" here this weekend.

McIntire, the fundamentalist New Jersey radio preacher, angrily denounced what he called a "monstrous conspiracy reaching up to the very top levels of the government" to keep Ky from the rally.

Ky, however, said with a smile it was "not quite true" the Nixon administration tried hard to discourage him from coming here.

Administration officials made little effort to disguise their relief that Ky was not coming. Security agents already had been assigned to what was shaping up as a confrontation between Vietnam war supporters and antiwar demonstrators at rival rallies.

The White House and State Department declined comment on Ky's private visit, but there were many hints Ky would find developments at the peace negotiations in Paris sufficiently important to keep him there, rather than to come to the United States at this time.

Upon learning Ky had called off his plans to fly here this week, leaders of the counter-demonstration canceled their rally.

Ky announced Sept. 3 he would come to Washington Oct. 3 for the private visit. But he changed his mind, apparently as a result of a Paris meeting Friday with Bui Diem, South Vietnam's ambassador to the United States.

The Vietnamese envoy had flown from Washington to Paris last Thursday carrying word that the security problem was going to be a difficult one.

Bride-elect Honored

Miss Margaret Waddle, bride-elect of William McKenzie, was honored at a reception Tuesday, September 15 in the home of Mrs. Clarence Geist. Co-hostesses for the occasion were: Mrs. Robert Turner, Mrs. J. W. McRoy, Mrs. Carter Russell, Mrs. Grover Thompson and Mrs. T. O. Porter.

Mrs. Turner greeted the guests as they arrived and introduced them to the honoree, who wore a white dress from her trousseau and pinned a corsage of fleur d'amour at her shoulder. In the receiving line also and wearing corsages of fleur d'amour and pink carnations were the mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. David Waddle and Mrs. Jim McKenzie, and the grandmothers, Mrs. R. C. Snellgrove and Mrs. Lynn Ross.

From a table covered with a white cloth trimmed in bands of Alencon lace and centered with a silver compote holding pink carnations, varied shades of pink zinnias and pink tapers, punch and embossed cakes, nuts and mints were served by Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. McRoy and Mrs. Russell. Also assisting in dispensing hospitality were Miss Kimberley Geist and Miss Kathy McRoy.

Coral roses and gardenias were seen at vantage points in the home. Miss Becky Waller presided at the guest book where approximately 65 registered during the appointed hours. The hostesses presented the honoree with a gift of silver.

Mrs. Michael Rhodes and Miss Mary Jane Smith entertained Miss Margie Waddle bride-elect of Bill McKenzie with a bridesmaids luncheon Saturday, September 26th at the Town and Country. The bride pinned a corsage of daisies at her shoulder. Covers were laid for nine which included mothers of the engaged couple and Mrs. R. C. Snellgrove grandmother of the bride-elect.

Bride-elect Honors President

"The Days of Beethoven" was the theme of the President's Luncheon which the Friday Music Club had on Saturday, September 26 at the Heritage House honoring Mrs. Helen Hatch. The program chairman, Mrs. James McLarty, made some introductory remarks about the composer whose 200th birthday is being observed this year. Yearbooks with Beethoven's picture on the cover were distributed. The Hymn of the Month, "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee," which is based on a

Beethoven theme, was sung by all after comments on it by Mary Anita Laseter.

A musical program was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hart, accompanied by Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. at the piano. Because Beethoven did not write vocal solos, they sang such contemporary music as "A Most Unusual Day," Mrs. Hart; "Torna Sorello," Mr. Hart; a medley of tunes by Sigmund Romberg, Mr. and Mrs. Hart.

In a setting of roses and candles, a chicken luncheon was served to members, the guest artists, Mrs. Paul Morgan, Mrs. Paul Rawson, and Miss Juanita Nicholson. Each of the 22 places was marked with a Special Edition paper, "Beethoven Gang," prepared by Mrs. McDowell Turner.

A white carnation corsage was presented to the honoree, Mrs. Hatch. In her address to the members, she said, "Music, like love, is for everyone." She announced a district meeting in Magnolia on October 31 and encouraged all to attend. A new Insignia Committee has been formed and she named as chairman Mrs. Arch Wylie, who is also the Southwest District President.

After lunch, Mrs. H. A. Spraggins installed the new officers in a clever manner using household products to illustrate her message. During 1970-71 the Friday Music Club will be led by: president, Mrs. Helen Hatch; 1st vice-president, Mrs. James McLarty; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Calvin Smith; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Joe Eason; recording secretary, Mrs. Lloyd Hendrix; treasurer, Mrs. Donald Mushtare; auditor, Mrs. McDowell Turner; parliamentarian, Mrs. Clarence Geist; choral director, Mrs. Tom Hays, Jr.; pianist, Mrs. Arthur Strech; librarian, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt; historian, Mrs. Sam Strong; Junior Music Club counselor, Mrs. C. C. McNeill. Hostesses for the luncheon meeting were Mrs. McLarty, Mrs. Turner and Miss Laseter.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. H. C. Whitworth was hostess for a meeting of a local Friday Bridge Club on September 25. Mrs. S. L. Murphy and Mrs. F. R. Moses were club guests for the afternoon, and mixed flowers were used as floral decoration.

When scores were tallied, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Charles Harrell were high. For refreshments ice cream and cookies were served with coffee to two tables of players.

New Rules for Local School Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has set in motion new regulations for local school spending some officials predict will prove as momentous as the civil rights laws of the 1960s.

The Office of Education — following up an announcement of last February — has told districts that to qualify for the major source of federal aid they must spend as many state and local tax dollars in schools serving low-income neighborhoods as in those for more affluent areas.

The federal government calls this "comparability."

Some districts spend as much as $500 more per pupil in their rich schools as in their poor ones, the education office says. In such districts federal aid seems to equalize expenditures between schools and does not, as intended, provide extra help for disadvantaged students.

Government officials blame this lack of comparability in part for disappointing results for the $1.5 billion aid program for upgrading the education of low-income students — title I of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

The 16,400 districts receiving Title I funds must demonstrate comparability of expenditures among their schools by next July 1 or submit a plan for achieving that goal. Officials say as many as 12,000 appear not to meet the new standards.

Districts without comparability will be ineligible for Title I money after July 1, 1972. "These new requirements could be the most important thing to happen in the education of minority children since the 1964 Civil Rights act," said an administration official who helped draft the rules. "They are going to become a very hot issue when people realize their impact and meaning for the financing of education."

The 1964 act made it illegal to support discriminatory programs with federal aid.

To achieve compliance, some of these districts are expected to face the politically uncomfortable choices of either raising school taxes or shifting funds from high-income schools into poor ones.

The measures of comparability will be the amount of state or local money spent in each school for instructional salaries, equipment and books and the ratio of pupils to instructional staff.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Laugh-In," moving into its fourth NBC season, is a triumph indeed. The comedy hour, for a couple of seasons the most popular show on the air, was expected by many to peter out after a few shows.

It is maintaining its frantic pace—one-liners, blackouts, camera tricks and short sketches tumbling over each other.

Dan Rowan and Dick Martin are still in the center of things although there has been considerable turn-over of cast—including several new regulars this season.

"Laugh-In" is showing some signs of fatigue—although perhaps it is the audience that is getting accustomed to its style. While there is still enthusiasm for dousing players with buckets of water, many other bits of physical humor seem to be losing their zing.

Goldie Hawn, one of the original stalwarts, returned Monday night as a guest star and was handed some tired material that she seemed almost embarrassed to use. At one point Rowan was said talking to Goldie "causes me a great deal of consternation." Miss Hawn replied, "I hear bicarbonate of soda is good for that."

A couple of brief sketches started promisingly but went nowhere. "Meet the Mitchells" was little besides a blonde woman fighting with her husband in a Southern accent. "The Four Most People" were identified as Liz and Dick and Ari and Jackie, and the sketch was short on funny dialogue but long on mimicry.

Lily Tomlin's telephone operator often has her moments. Miss Tomlin and Arte Johnson are the brightest spots in the hour.

In the first Nielsen ratings of the new season, charting the initial reception of CBS' and NBC's fall schedules the week of Sept. 13, "Mayberry R.F.D." was second only to "Here's Lucy" in popularity. The irony of its high rating is that "Mayberry" started as the vehicle that made Andy Griffith a TV star. The same week, Andy's new series, "Headmaster" wound up 20th on the Nielsen list.

"Mayberry" remains a pleasant human comedy, notable for uniformly good stories and warm characterizations. Monday's script had Howard Sprague, the local culture lover, uncovering part of a dinosaur skeleton and wanting to hunt for more bones by digging under Goober's gas station. The result was frayed tempers and arguments, all in amusing dialogue that never went too far.

Word's Origin

The word tantalize stems from the Greek mythological character, Tantalus, who was punished by being plunged up to his chin in water with a tree, the fruit of which he could not reach. The word is taken from his name.

Where Their Name

The Adirondacks take their name from the title, "tree eater," bestowed on a local tribe of Indians who sometimes were reduced by food shortages to making soup from the bark of trees, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

RACING IS FOR RACE TRACKS

Dear Helen:

I've never stopped my husband from enjoying life, but his new "hobby" scares me. He's building a super-car under a 1962 body, and wants to race it on the streets for money. If it were track racing, I might wring my hands but I'd say nothing. But he's risking tickets, accidents, law suits, and maybe death just for the "filing" he missed in high school when he was too busy saving for marriage to drag race. He'll spend more than $1000, and he can't even afford insurance for a souped up car—or the cost of repairs.

Both our families are against this but won't say anything. We're 22 and 20 and have been married two happy years. I want to keep it that way. Do I have a right to complain?—SANDI

Dear Sandi:

If your husband plans to break the law with his street-racing, you certainly do have a right to complain! There are drag race tracks in your area. Point out that he'll win more, at home and abroad (especially at home!) if he sticks to these. —H.

Dear Helen:

The kindest thing to say about my father is that he's a mentally sick man. I hate him, for things that can't be printed in a newspaper column. I never told my mother—she has enough troubles to bear. I just tried never to be caught alone with him after that one terrible experience.

Now I'm being married, and my folks are giving me a lovely wedding. The invitations are sent out, the gown bought, and bridal parties planned.

But lately I've been brooding more and more about what happened when I was 11 years old. (It never happened again.)

I can't bear the thought of the man I hate giving me away. But if I refuse to walk down the aisle with my father, the whole wedding may fall apart. And my mother has her heart set on this wedding.

I'm a perfectly normal girl and I don't need psychiatry because of this experience. I'm just fed up with pretending. Please advise. — CONSIDERING

ELOPEMENT

Dear C.E.:

You've pretended all these years—and who knows, perhaps your father has done penance all these years, too. Couldn't you pretend just one more time, in the interests of the lovely wedding both you and your mother want?

Afterwards? That's up to you, but don't you think you've hated long enough? Talking this out with someone who understands the situation may exercise devils on both sides. —H.

Dear Helen:

Back about Thanksgiving of last year you printed the address of "The Tigers" a group of men in Vietnam. I want to thank you for this. You see, I wrote to that address and was lucky enough to get an answer from a wonderful young man. We corresponded for eight months and when he came back, he stopped to see me. His home is in Maine.

I'm happy to announce that my "Tiger" and I will be married in March. Thanks very much from both of us!—A HOOSIER MISS SOON TO BE A MAINE MRS.

Dear Hoosier:

You're welcome. And here's happiness from all of us! —H.

THE SPLIT-LEVEL AND THE LOG CABIN

An important part of our economic progress is due to the steady rise in the educational level of our people.

Another important factor is the environment in which people live. The environment of freedom, giving people the chance to use their ingenuity and to develop an industrial technology, makes a big difference.

Freedom and initiative help make the difference between the superhighway and the cow path . . . the modern split-level and the bare log cabin . . . between the eight-hour day and dawn-to-dusk toil . . . the home freezer and the root cellar . . . between abundance and a bleak existence.

Economic freedom has stimulated our industrial growth because it relates an individual's success to his own energy and ability.

Political freedom has given the individual the power to prevent excessive government interference in his affairs.

Religious freedom has given us a faith in ourselves and our country that is essential to the building of a great nation.

Individual freedom — and not welfare-state Big Brotherism — is the best guarantee of economic security . . . because freedom is the key to plentiful production and greater job opportunities.

Texarkana B Boys Down Hope Team

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Costly mistakes kept the Hope B-team in trouble all night, as the Texarkana Texas Tigers capitalized on two of them and scored a 22-6 victory, here, last night.

The B-Lizards next game will be against the same tiger team, in Texarkana next Monday, at 7:30 p.m. Hope is now 1-1 for the season.

Hope kicked off and after receiving the ball, Texarkana started at their own 38. It took the Tigers 10 plays to cover the distance, with tailback Calvin Johnson getting the last four yards with 5:56 left in the first quarter. The PAT by Ted Sutton was good and Texarkana had a quick 7-0 lead.

After getting the football and changing possessions a few times, the Lizards got the ball back with 6:43 left in the first half. Hope used three first downs to get downfield to the Tiger 15, but a fumble recovery by Linebacker Jimmy Hudson gave Texarkana the ball.

Hope held, and with 1:20 left in the half, the Lizards began to move. A 26 yard pass from Tommy Frazier to Ricky Hart, set the ball on the Tiger 17, but two losses set Hope back to the 28.

From here, Frazier found Hart down the middle and the result was a beautiful 28 yard touchdown pass with only 11 seconds in the half. The PAT was no good and Texarkana still led 7-6 at the half.

At this point a close game was the call, but things eventually didn't work out that way.

On the first play of the second half Texarkana recovered and scored on a 20 yard run by Charles Stokes with 9:13 left. The PAT was no good.

Now behind 13-6, Hope took the kick but three plays later set up to punt. On a 1 and 10, Johnson broke numerous tackles and rammed to a 36 yard TD run with 5:22 left in the third segment. Sutton's extra point was good and it was a 20-6 lead for the Tigers.

With 1:01 left in the quarter Hope fumbled a punt in the end zone and two more points went up, on a safety, as Texarkana rolled up a 22-6 lead.

Moving into the last quarter, the Lizards began to move but with a third and one, failed to make the yardage. On that play quarterback Tommy Frazier was removed from the game, with a believed head concussion and put in the hospital overnight for observation.

Coming in to replace him later was Jack Turner, who did a fine job, having not played quarterback since junior high. Four minutes later the game was over and the final score was a 22-6 loss for the Lizards.

Hope was hampered by costly fumbles, and other mistakes, but hopefully will sharpen up for next weeks return match.

Richardson May Go for Bill Burnett

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

— Tailback Jon Richardson and tackle John Turner worked Monday at the first team positions that were left vacant when Bill Burnett and Roger Harnish suffered injuries in the Arkansas - Tulsa game last weekend.

Harnish, a junior tackle from Little Rock, will be out for eight weeks following knee surgery Sunday. Turner replaced Harnish during the Tulsa game.

Burnett suffered a dislocated shoulder and did not participate as the Razorbacks worked out in sweat clothes Monday. Asked if Burnett would play in Saturday's game against TCU, Coach Frank Broyles said: "We're not planning on it."

Broyles said that Richardson, a 176-pound sophomore from Little Rock, would probably start.

America's Cup Retained by Intrepid

By SID MOODY

Associated Press Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — It was another breeze for the United States in the America's Cup yachting classic ... and the question is: who'll be making waves as challengers in the future?

After Intrepid beat back Australia's Gretel II by one minute and 44 seconds, or roughly 10 boat lengths, Monday to take the best-of-7 series four races to one, speculation turned to the probable 1973 challenger for the Cup which has never left America.

A spokesman for the Gretel II assured the New York Yacht Club, the Cup's governing body, that Australia would come back for another crack at the treasured 119-year-old trophy.

The French, who challenged for the first time this year and lost in the preliminaries to Gretel, were expected to be back under pen magnate Baron Marcel Bich.

British yachtsman Eric Maxwell also is interested and a West German group has reportedly been watching the race with interest. The yacht club has 90 days to announce participants for 1973.

Monday's final race was nose-to-nose two thirds around the 24.3-mile course here. The gift of the wind gods and the steady hand of helmsman Bill Ficker took charge as the skind-bald Californian bested Australia's Jim Hardy at his own game on a wild 4.5-mile homestretch.

But it was, oh, so close. Gretel II took a brief early lead, lost it promptly again and trailed by 44, 43, and 39 seconds at the first three marks. But getting help from a fading northwesterly wind that had dropped to seven knots, Gretel II, once 10 lengths astern, was suddenly even.

When Intrepid finally tacked about 10 degrees high of the buoy, Ficker slipped away to a five-length lead. But Hardy was not through. He was within two lengths of an overlap as the two yachts rounded the next-to-last mark.

Then the wind veered widely to the north-northeast some 70 degrees, which cost Hardy his favorite weapon—a tacking duel in light air which had enabled him to catch the slower-tacking Intrepid on the fourth leg.

Ficker blundered in similar conditions Thursday when Gretel II slid by him a mile from the finish by failing to match Hardy's maneuvers closely enough. Hardy won then, but Ficker had learned his lesson and stayed on top of his rival as the Aussies' chased the errant waves, hoping for a private one to carry him ahead.

Ficker didn't let him out from under and matched Intrepid's second straight challenge victory having beaten Australia's Dame Pattie 4-0 in 1967.

"He sailed a great race, Bill Ficker," Hardy said later. "I'm not at all bitter. I've had a lot of seconds. This is another, but it's the most disappointing one."

"I don't feel Gretel II has been sailed to her optimum yet. I feel I've let Sir Frank Packer (head of the Gretel II syndicate) and Alan Payne (her designer) down."

He shouldn't. No foreign skipper ever rattled the Cup on its shelf as much as Hardy.

"I feel we were provided with a good boat—as good as Ficker's," Hardy said and no one argued with him.

Just before the start, there was a last chapter in Gretel II's disqualification that cost her a triumph in the second race. The NYC race committee delivered a note to both boats saying that a second effort by the Aussies to reopen the disqualification had been turned down.

Sir Frank then messaged from aboard his tender, Pearl Necklace, that he was dropping the matter.

Some yachtsmen think the committee is in a difficult spot in ruling on protests under its own regulations and involving a boat raced by its own members but Hardy didn't agree.

"I wouldn't take this out of the club's hands. It's part of the whole Cup tradition. I think they made their decision with a lot of integrity."

He added he thought the overlap rule involved in the collision that disqualified Gretel II was ambiguous.

"But if we were good enough

Homer Keeps Mets in Tie for Second

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Wayne Garrett's dramatic home run came too late to help the New York Mets after their lost weekend in Pittsburgh but it did get the defending world champions even with the Chicago Cubs.

The Mets, who dropped three straight to the Pirates, including Sunday's 2-1 loss, enabling the Pirates to clinch the National League East Division title, were on their way to dropping another Monday night when first Donn Clendenon and then Garrett exploded.

The Mets pulled it out in the 10th inning, winning 6-3 on Garrett's 12th homer of the season, placing the Mets and Cubs in a flat-footed tie for second place with three games remaining against each other.

In the only other National League game, Houston blanked San Francisco 3-0.

In the American League, Minnesota edged Kansas City 1-0 and California nipped Chicago 4-3.

Clendenon gave the Mets a life Monday night when he slammed his 22nd homer—a two-run shot—in the ninth inning off Ken Holtzman, giving New York a 3-3 tie. The pair of runs batted in gave Clendenon 95 for the season, a club record.

Holtzman had been breezing on a four-hitter until Cleon Jones slammed a two-out single before Clendenon's shot. The left-hander was given a 3-1 edge in the sixth when Tommy Davis connected for a three-run blast.

Then in the 10th, Jerry Grote doubled off Hoyt Wilhelm and after two outs, Dave Marshall walked. Garrett then followed with his game-winning.

Starter Gary Gentry issued only three hits in six innings and Met relievers Tug McGraw and Danny Frisella stopped the Cubs the rest of the way without a hit.

Jack Billingham tossed a six-innings game, losing 3-2 to the Pirates. The Mets' 12th homer was the 12th of the season, a club record.

bitter for his 130 victory and struck out 12 Giants. San Francisco holds a slim one-half game margin over Los Angeles for second place in the NL West behind runaway winner Cincinnati.

The Astros scored all three runs in the second inning off Ron Bryant, 5-8, on a run-scoring single by Larry Howard, an RBI groundout and Cesar Cedeno's perfect bunt single for the third tally.

Minnesota, the AL's West champion, got a squeeze bunt in the fifth inning from rookie Danny Thompson for its victory over the Royals.

Tom Hall, 11-6, expected to start the second playoff game against East winner Baltimore on Sunday, went eight innings and scattered five hits while striking out seven.

The Angels Tom Murphy held Chicago hitless for six innings but was reached for three hits in the seventh inning, including a three-run homer by the White Sox' Bill Melton. Ed Fisher came on to halt the Sox and preserve Murphy's 16th victory.

The Angels scored a pair of runs in the first on run-scoring singles by Tony Gonzalez and Jim Spencer and added a pair in the sixth on RBI singles by Mickey Rivers and Murphy.

Some Teams Playing Many Sophomores

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

"I believe that in 10 years all college teams will be playing 11 games and there'll be no spring practice."

So predicts Coach Frank Navarro of Columbia. His reasons?

"If we can play 29 sophomores, as we did last Saturday, there must be something different instilled in kids today before we get them. They don't really need spring practice. They're physically ready to play."

"Then, too, kids want to do diversified things these days. And there's the financial aspect. It costs more to have spring practice."

"With more than half of the major schools already playing 11 games, all they're doing is coming back from vacation a week earlier. In the Ivy League, where we still play nine games, we have a scrimmage or two under game conditions. We might as well play a real game and make some money out of it," Navarro said.

"I think college chancellors and presidents across the country are looking at schools in the Northeast which don't have spring practice and which start classes earlier in September than they used to."

"The pros have so much influence on college football I think people are looking at the players' strike, which delayed their reporting to camp. They still got ready for their first exhibitions."

Navarro and his fellow Ivy coaches now say they'd prefer a 10th game to spring practice, in order of priority.

They say you can't tell the players without a scoreboard, but even that wouldn't have helped at the Kentucky-Ole Miss game if a Jackson, Miss., sporting goods dealer hadn't come to the rescue.

Kentucky showed up with white jerseys, the same color the Rebels wore to wear. The sporting goods store, however, provided 46 blue jerseys and they arrived at the stadium with a police escort just in time for the warm-up.

John Yovcin, who will retire after this season, became Harvard's winningest coach Saturday with 72 victories, one more than the legendary Percy Haughton.

And Dartmouth's Jay Bennett, a highly rated running back who was injured before his sophomore season, is back on the team as a senior ... and as a punter. From his own seven-yard line, he boomed a punt over a Massachusetts receiver's head, the ball finally coming to rest deep in the end zone — 100 yards away.

Pitching to Be Key in Playoffs

By D. BYRON YAKE
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati and Pittsburgh are both known for their offensive weapons. But when the National League playoffs open this week-end at Three Rivers Stadium, pitching should be the key.

Pittsburgh's pitching has suddenly blossomed after mid-season injuries hit the staff.

During the last 17 games, Pirate pitchers have allowed only 40 runs—35 earned—for an earned-run average of 2.30. The opposition has been held to one or less runs in six games and has scored more than three runs in just three of them.

The Reds, on the other hand, have won eight of their last 10 games, but have not had one complete game.

Gary Nolan, 18-7, recently the steadiest pitcher for the Reds, will start against the Pirates' Dock Ellis, 13-10, who won Sunday's game against New York that clinched the title for Pittsburgh.

Jim Merritt of the Reds, who was hit on the elbow three weeks ago and had been sidelined, pitched three innings last week. If he is healthy he is expected to start the second game against Luke Walker. The left-hander has become the "reliable one" of the Pirate pitching corps. He is 15-6, Merritt, with a 20-12 record, is the first 20-game winner Cincinnati has had since 1925.

The Reds are a better slugging club than the Pirates but the two teams are nearly even in batting percentage. The Pirates are hitting .269, the Reds .271.

Red catcher Johnny Bench is batting .294, has a league-leading 45 home runs and 147 runs batted in, also tops in the league.

Pete Rose leads the Reds in batting with a .318 average and Tony Perez is hitting .316 with 40 home runs and 129 RBIs.

Roberto Clemente, who will miss the St. Louis series this week to undergo more back treatment in Pittsburgh, should be ready for the playoffs. He's not eligible for the batting title this year because he has too few times at bat—but his average is .350.

Manny Sanguillen, the Pirate catcher, is batting .326, third in the league. Willie Stargell, Al Oliver and Bob Robertson are the RBI leaders on the Pirates. Stargell has 85, Oliver 82 and Robertson 81.

Both clubs will rely on their bullpens. The Pirates have Dave Giusti with a 9-3 record and 26 saves.

Jim "Mudcat" Grant, who won two of the three games against the Mets over the weekend, is not eligible for either the playoffs or the World Series, since he was acquired from Oakland after the Sept. 1 deadline.

Wayne Granger, with a 6-5 record and a 2.71 ERA and Clay Carroll, 9-4 and a 2.65 ERA, are the Reds' bullpen standouts.

Wayne Simpson, a Cincinnati rookie who has a 14-3 record, will not see action in the playoffs due to an arm injury.

The last time the Pirates won a title was in 1960 when they took the World Series. The Reds last took the pennant in 1961.

In 194 games since 1960, the Reds hold only a two-game edge over Pittsburgh with a 98-96 record.

Top-seeded Players Beat Challengers

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The top-seeded players, led by Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., have knocked off first-round challengers in the Pacific Coast International Tennis Open.

Richey, seeded No. 1, defeated Mike Machette of Belvedere, Calif., 7-6, 6-3, Monday and third-ranked Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., beat Ken Stuart, Seal Beach, Calif., 6-1, 6-2.

Clark Graebner of New York, seeded fifth, defeated Mike Kreiss of Los Angeles, 6-4, 7-6, and the tournament's top-ranked foreign entry, sixth-seeded Jan Kodess of Czechoslovakia, turned back New York's Steve Turner, 6-3, 7-6.

Australian Owen Davidson, ranked eighth, advanced with a 6-3, 6-2 triumph over San Francisco's Jack Acheson.

Attends Region Meet

H & R Block, America's largest Income Tax Service held a regional meeting in Little Rock recently. Shown above at left is Roland Echols manager of Hope discussing this year's changes in the 1040 tax form with Block Regional Director Lewis Gillard, center, and Ferd Hand, Satellite Manager at the right.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the tax law changes brought about by the Tax Reform Act of 1969 reviewing tax forms and matters and discussing ways and methods of improving the Block preparation.

Says Player Removed Due to a Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Sun-Times said today Chicago Cubs third baseman Ron Santo was removed from the Cub lineup in New York Monday night, apparently because of an anonymous threat against his life.

Santo did not take the field for batting practice before the Cubs game against the New York Mets. Instead, the Sun-Times said in a story by sports writer Jerome Holtzman, Santo dressed back into civilian clothes and said he was returning to Chicago because he was not feeling well, and on orders Dr. Jake Suker, the Cubs' team physician.

The star third baseman is expected to miss the remaining games of the season, the newspaper added.

Met center fielder Tommie Agee also was held out of the game. Manager Gil Hodges said he was told by a team physician that Agee "isn't feeling well."

Cub officials in New York refused to confirm or deny that a threat had been made on Santo's life.

Holtzman gave this account of events preceding the game, which the Mets won 6-3:

A force of at least six detectives were in the Cub clubhouse prior to the game, obviously there to guard Santo.

The detectives rode out to Shea Stadium on the Cub team bus, but were not officially identified by Cub officials.

Cub Manager Leo Durocher, when asked who they were, replied, "They're friends of mine."

When asked if they were detectives, Durocher replied, "Yes, they could be."

Holtzman said a fan, apparently angered because the Cubs didn't win the National League pennant, is reported to have written an anonymous letter advising Santo he would be shot when he took the field for Monday night's game.

About 40 minutes before game time, he said, Cub Vice President John Holland was called into Durocher's clubhouse office. The meeting lasted for more than a half hour and Santo twice was called into the room.

The Sun-Times said the FBI in Chicago confirmed that a threatening letter had been sent

Royal Feels Point Spread Is Too Much

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) — Texas football coach Darrel Royal grinned when he was asked what he would do if Texas were made a 20-point favorite over undefeated UCLA this Saturday.

"You wouldn't want to wager, would you?" Royal asked.

He meant that the point spread would be way too much, even though Texas is No. 2 in the nation and winners of 22 straight games, the longest winning streak in college football.

Asked what impressed him most about UCLA, Royal told his regular weekly news conference Monday it was "their ability to win."

The Bruins have beaten Oregon State, Pittsburgh and Northwestern by fairly close scores, while Texas whacked California, 56-15, and defeated Texas Tech 35-13 after leading at halftime only 14-13.

"They have good athletes who make the big plays. They do what it takes to win," he said of UCLA. He cited a fourth-and-eight touchdown pass for 53 yards to win the Northwestern game in the final three minutes.

Royal mentioned that Texas will have two new starters against UCLA, with sophomore Dan Terwelp, 205, taking over for David Arledge, 178, at defensive end and 225-pound Deryl Comer replacing Tommy Woodard, 210, at offensive light end.

Comer and Woodard both considered top athletes by the Longhorn coaching staff, and both are recovering from knee injuries. Royal said Comer blocked a "little stronger" against Tech.

He also said he was concerned about linebacker Stan Mauldin, whose leg and ankle were stiff after the Tech game.

Out for the rest of the season will be sub defensive end Bill Rutherford, who will have an operation on his dislocated shoulder.

Royal said Texas' second-half touchdown drives of 70, 71 and 72 yards against Tech were solid, something you can sink your teeth into."

He said the Longhorns out-gained the Red Raiders 274 yards to 57 yards in the second half after "losing their poise" in the first half by fumbling on a couple of promising drives.

Royal said the game films showed tackle Bobby Wuensch was called offside three times, and the calls were "all accurate." Tech coach Jim Carlen showed films after the game showing Wuensch, 225, getting an exceptionally quick jump on the ball.

One writer counted 25 times when it was questionable whether Wuensch moved before the ball was snapped.

"Bobby gets off with the snap," Royal said. "And when he moves in front of the other linemen it catches your eye. We'll look at it again. He's cutting it pretty fine. We'll work on it..."

Asked if he thought Wuensch was offside an exceptional number of times, Royal replied, "no."

THE FAMILY LAWYER
In the heat of political debate, Lawmaker A calls Lawmaker B a crook. B is not a crook. Could he make A pay damages for slander?

No, because the law grants a special immunity to all legislators, both state and federal. No matter what slanders they utter, within the legislative chamber, they cannot be held liable in court.

This may seem to be rank favoritism. But the rule is meant for the benefit of the public at large, not for the benefit of the legislators themselves. It frees them to do a better job, unhampered by the lurking fear of legal liability in case they happen to say something wrong.

For similar reasons, immunity is granted also to officials of the judicial and executive branches of the government. Take this case:

A judge, while questioning an arrested man, scolded him as a liar and a disgrace to the community. As it happened, the man was guilty of nothing at all. After being released, he sued the judge for slander.

But the court dismissed his claim, on grounds of the judge's special immunity. The court said: "How could a judge exercise his office if he were in daily fear of an action being brought against him?"

However, the less important the occasion, and the less important the official the less reason there is to grant him immunity.

Consider a case which grew out of a local council hearing on bus service. One of the council members, angered by a complaining citizen, denounced him wrathfully as a fraud. The charge was made simply out of malice, without the slightest basis in fact.

When the victim filed suit for slander, the councilman claimed immunity as a "lawmaker." But the court turned down his defense and held him liable. The judge said that at this lower legislative level, protecting an official was not as important as protecting an innocent person's good name.

Back in 1932 young Oswald Jacoby married the tennis champion of Texas. Mary Zita Jacoby had never played bridge but wanted to learn and in order to teach his wife quickly he invented the point count no-trump.

This picture bid showed 5-3-3-2, 4-4-3-2 or 4-3-3-3 distribution and from 16-18 points in high cards. It became the Standard American no-trump and still is. It is also the JACOBY MODERN no-trump.

The only difference between 1932 Jacoby and 1970 Jacoby is that we now provide that the doubleton may be Jx as well as Ax, Kx or Qx. In face we don't consider it a capital crime to open one no-trump with a worthless doubleton if you feel like living dangerously.

We do use the Stayman convention in responding to opening no-trumps. If you have never learned this convention it is about time you did. There are innumerable versions of Stayman. The JACOBY MODERN version is one of the simplest.

The basic idea of Stayman is that the two-club response to an opening no-trump is an artificial forcing bid and demands that partner rebid two diamonds if he doesn't have a major suit of four cards or more. If he does have a major he rebids two in it. If he has four cards in each major suit he rebids two of the one he likes better.

North has 17 balanced points. There is no need to use the Stayman convention since he does not hold a four-card major suit. Therefore, he does not need to explore suit possibilities. He knows the partnership total is from 33-35; that 33 is the key number for a small slam and 37 the key number for a grand slam. He just bids six no-trump.

South may fool around and try to make seven by putting the ace of hearts to sleep. Maybe he will. Maybe he won't, but in any case six is home.

An Excess of Anything Can Prove Your Undoing
By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

If a little is good, is more better? Not necessarily if you want to stay healthy. Most of the things you need for health will harm you if you have them in excess.

Oxygen in the air you breathe is one example. If you are exposed to thin air, at altitude, you may not get enough oxygen. If the oxygen lack is severe, it can cause fainting or even death. Now, if you have too much oxygen, more than you usually get in the air at sea level, it can cause changes in the lungs, decreased formation of red blood cells and even death—from "oxygen toxicity."

Sunshine is another example. It is really radiation. A small amount is good for you and builds up vitamin D in the body. Too much can cause severe sunburn or may lead to early wrinkling of the skin.

Oh! Calcutta Issue Awaits Reviewers

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is awaiting word from its reviewers before deciding whether promoters of the closed-circuit national television showing of "Oh! Calcutta!" will be prosecuted under federal obscenity laws.

The off-Broadway play, featuring nudity and simulated sexual intercourse, was canceled in at least six of the 86 cities where the TV version had been scheduled Monday night.

Some of those watching the performance were Justice Department agents who will report whether they were offended by the explicit nature of the show.

One of the cities where viewers were turned back was Peoria, Ill., where Circuit Court Judge Robert Hunt issued an injunction against the show at a drive-in theater. He said he acted to protect the environment from "moral fly ash."

Colormedia Corp., promoter of the telecast, said showings also were canceled in Atlanta, Oklahoma City, Syracuse, N.Y., and Louisville and Lexington, Ky.

Rodney Ericson, president of Colormedia, said in most cases the cancellations resulted from pressure brought by Charles Keating Jr. of Cincinnati, a member of the President's Commission on Pornography.

Ericson said his firm plans to sue Keating for $150 million.

The Justice Department said Monday it would make no attempt to halt the initial showing of the play, the first such production ever transmitted to a mass audience via closed-circuit TV.

Barry Bernstein of Colormedia said he is convinced the production is entirely legal.

"If people want to put up the price of the ticket to see 'Oh! Calcutta!' I think they have the right to see it. It's 100 per cent better than some of the skin flicks that are being shown in movie theaters."

Ticket prices ranged from $6 to $15.

The Justice Department said the closed-circuit screening may have violated prohibition on interstate transportation of obscene material.

When the play opened June 17, 1969, New York newspapers panned it. Associated Press writer Mary Campbell's review found the play "a disconnected series of impressions, a great deal of it boring."

Rozzell Sees No Conflict of Interest

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, said Monday he could see "no conflict of interest" in his membership on the board of Horace Mann Insurance Co.

The company, which is asking for a 21 per cent rate increase, offers insurance to AEA members and other state teacher associations as a benefit.

The AEA is opposing the proposed rate increase. When asked if the company had applied any pressure to stop AEA efforts, Rozzell said, "The injection of membership was an effort to embarrass me."

Rozzell said that "practically all" of the other directors are executive secretaries of teacher's associations. The board is composed of 21 members.

Directors of Horace Mann receive $200 a year and expenses to two annual meetings.

Dream of Nasser Not Fulfilled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, the most important Arab statesman to emerge in modern times, died with his dream of uniting the Arab world behind him unfulfilled.

He wrote of his dream and led summit conferences to achieve it, yet his actions repeatedly drove quarreling Arab factions farther apart.

His struggle to bring his brand of revolutionary socialism to Egypt and its neighbors, coupled with his determination to destroy Israel, brought the world to the verge of war.

The day before he died, he had shepherded an agreement between Jordan's King Hussein and Arab guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat to end Jordan's bloody civil war—a conflict that threatened international intervention.

But even then, the agreement encouraged the guerrillas to increase their war against Israel despite a cease-fire with Israel that Nasser and Hussein had signed in August.

When death came at the age of 52, Nasser could point to the giant Soviet-built Aswan Dam as a major achievement for Egypt's struggling industry and impoverished farmers. At the same time, his country was bankrupt from 20 years of battling Israel.

Nasser was the first to sign the U.S.-sponsored cease-fire that went into effect in August, but before the ink was dry Israel accused Egypt of violating the agreement by moving Soviet missiles into the Suez Canal truce zone.

Peace with Israel would have been virtually an unknown thing to Nasser.

It was the Arab-Israeli war of 1948 that led Nasser to plot the downfall of Egypt's King Farouk. Nasser, who risked a court martial to go to the battlefield, was so incensed at the incompetence of the Egyptian army and its miserable equipment, that he and other officers created their "Free Officers" movement against the throne.

In 1952, the young officers moved in and Farouk was out. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, an old soldier, was named prime minister. Nasser lived in a modest bungalow with his wife, two daughters and three sons, working 20 hours a day to rebuild Egypt according to his revolutionary pattern.

In November 1954, Nasser pushed Naguib out and took over the premiership, still only 36 years old and confident.

That confidence was shattered a year later when the Israelis swept across the Gaza strip, whipping the Egyptians soundly.

It was the first of three times his army was to be humiliated by the Israelis—defeats that would have driven most Arab politicians into the shadows.

Instead, Nasser turned to the Soviet Union for help, kept tight control over the local Communists, and proclaimed "positive neutrality."

In 1956, in a daring move that threatened an international face-down, Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal. An Israeli blitz swept across the Sinai desert while French and British troops seized Port Said.

In rare unison, the United States and the Soviet Union both denounced the invasion and the British, French and Israelis withdrew. The Russians followed their diplomatic success with aid to build the Aswan Dam.

Nasser's most devastating defeat came in 1967, when Israel's air force and shock troops shattered the Egyptian army in a six-day war that left the Israelis stationed along the Suez.

He resigned "completely and forever," but agreed to return to power when thousands of hysterical Egyptians poured into the street shouting his name.

He grew noticeably more stooped, however, and his smile lost some of its dazzle. He played less tennis but continued his daily walks.

In 1968 he went to the Soviet Union for medical treatment. He returned to Moscow last June and he spent 19 days of June and July there discussing Middle East affairs with Soviet leaders.

Nasser's drive for Arab unity had to carry with it the burden of his military ambitions.

He sponsored two summit conferences seeking pan-Arab unity but both failed—the Khartoum meeting in 1967 and the 1969 conference in Rabat, Morocco.

There were plots against him and one of his closest friends, Field Marshall Abdel Hakim Amer, and 50 officers were arrested in 1967 for planning his downfall. Cairo announced after the arrests that Amer committed suicide by poison.

Nasser was born Jan. 15, 1918, in a village in upper Egypt, the son of a postal clerk. He went to Cairo for schooling and at 17 was active in the revolt against the British who ruled the Suez Canal.

He was jailed in 1935, and re-joined the rebels when he got out. Nasser was permitted to enter military college in 1937 and left a year later with a second lieutenant's commission.

By World War II, Nasser was a captain, attached to British forces that scored the victory at El Alamein in 1942.

When the Palestine war erupted following Israel's independence in 1948, he resigned his commission and volunteered for the front. The resignation was refused but Nasser went to Palestine anyway. It was there that he and the other frustrated Egyptians organized the move that drove Farouk from the throne.

Nasser proclaimed a new constitution in January 1956 and six months later he was chosen president with 99 per cent of the vote.

Eighteen years of defeat, crisis and frustration drew its toll and a year ago, Nasser told a political rally he was tired of his job.

Egypt had enjoyed "years of glory" since the overthrow of Farouk, he said, but "for myself, I consider each year was the equivalent of 10 years of effort and constructive work."

In his book, "Egypt's Liberation," Nasser wrote:

"For some reason it seems that within the Arab circle there is a role wandering aimlessly in search of a hero."

For millions of Arabs, that role belonged to Nasser for 18 years.

Cordell Hull served as secretary of state under President Franklin Roosevelt from 1933 until 1944, when he resigned because of ill health.

But opponents argue it would encourage splinter parties, destroy the role of the states in the election process, and, in a close election, leave the outcome in doubt for weeks or months while recounts were conducted and alleged vote frauds investigated.

Opponents, mostly Southern and small-state senators, refused to agree to set a time for voting on the proposed amendment or various alternatives that have been offered.

Electoral Reform Fight Continues

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today faced what Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said was a decisive test in the battle over junking the present electoral system for direct, popular election of the president.

The test was a second attempt to cut off debate over the proposed constitutional amendment sponsored by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind.

Indications before today's action pointed to shelving the amendment if the move to end debate in its fourth week failed.

A first attempt to apply cloture fell six votes short Sept. 17. The vote then, with 10 senators absent, was 54 for shutting off debate and 36 against.

Bayh called today's vote a test of the Senate's ability to function as a responsive institution of government.

The House-approved amendment would abolish the electoral college, in which each state has as many votes for president as it has senators and representatives, and provide that the candidate who received 40 per cent or more of the popular vote would be elected.

If no candidate got as much as 40 per cent of the nationwide vote, a runoff election would be held between the two front-runners.

Bayh contends this is the only system that assures the candidate who receives the most votes will be elected and that every vote cast will count equally.

But opponents argue it would encourage splinter parties, destroy the role of the states in the election process, and, in a close election, leave the outcome in doubt for weeks or months while recounts were conducted and alleged vote frauds investigated.

Opponents, mostly Southern and small-state senators, refused to agree to set a time for voting on the proposed amendment or various alternatives that have been offered.

President Cites 'Power for Peace'

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer

ABOARD THE U.S.S. SARATOGA (AP) — President Nixon stressed "power for peace" in a speech to men of the U.S. 6th Fleet today, but silenced the guns out of respect to the late Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In a broadcast to the fleet from this aircraft carrier in the Mediterranean and referring to the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force, Nixon said:

"I salute you as the peace forces of the United States of America."

He also told the men they were the "peace forces of the world."

The President said the "power and mobility of the 6th Fleet" in this period of danger and tension in the Middle East have been "indispensable in keeping peace."

Nixon conferred earlier with his top advisers about the death of Nasser and its effect on the Middle East, United States and the rest of the world.

After spending the night on the aircraft carrier Saratoga, which is cruising in the Mediterranean with the U.S. 6th Fleet, the President went into a private meeting with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, and security affairs adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

No details of the meeting were disclosed. But Nixon's schedule for the remainder of his five-nation tour of Europe was unchanged.

An official said the President's visit to Yugoslavia Wednesday and Thursday is still on the agenda. But President Tito of Yugoslavia was a close friend of Nasser, and if he goes to the Egyptian president's funeral Thursday, Nixon's schedule will have to be changed.

Bulletin

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Police said Willie C. Love, 21, of Little Rock was arrested today after he entered the State Capitol with a loaded carbine and said he had a "revolutionary warrant" for Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and other state officials.

Trooper John Chambers said Love, a Negro, was arrested by State Police Sgt. Tony McDonald and taken to the Pulaski County Jail where he was charged with disturbing the peace and possession of a weapon.

No injury was reported. Chambers said Love entered the Capitol with a loaded carbine about 11:30 and went into some of the state offices. Chambers said Love came out in the rotunda on the second floor and shouted several phrases.

"I have a revolutionary warrant for the governor," Chambers quoted Love as saying. Chambers said Love also said he had a warrant for other state officials.

Chambers said while Love was shouting, he placed his gun against a wall. Chambers said an employee of the Highway Department then grabbed the gun and McDonald arrested Love.

Heavy Damage in Wreck at 3rd and Elm

Two accidents were investigated by City Police during the past 24 hours, one resulting in heavy damage but no injuries. At 6:30 a.m. an auto driven by Guy E. Basye and a SW Transport Co. truck driven by Johnny Dowdy of Memphis collided at Third and Elm Streets. Both vehicles were heavily damaged. City officers Arterbury and James Rowe charged Basye with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Yesterday at Dairy and North Allen Streets vehicles driven by Andrew Phillip Woods of Fulton and Raymond Williamson of Hope collided with minor damage resulting. There were no charges filed by Officers Ward and Edwards.

The annual Third District Livestock Show parade opened yesterday with one of the finest parades in the history of the show. Thousands of persons lined the streets to view the parade that had many beautiful floats, novelty events and everything that goes to make a fine parade.

Here's the winners:
Schools - 1 - Willisville; 2 - Cale and 3 - Bodcaw.
Civic: 1 - Red River Vocational Technical School; 2 - Jaycees and Jaycettes of Prescott and 3 - Prescott B & PW Club.

Youth Floats-Hardy Workers 4-H Club of Howard County; 2-Unity 4-H Club of Howard; and 3rd place went to No. 21.

In the pets division Karen Bailey took first place and in the bike parade two Delight riders, Angela Allgood and Vance Lamb took first and second respectively.

At the Third District Livestock Show tonight the main event in the Coliseum will be the selection of the Third District Livestock Show Queen. The winner will represent the district in the State Livestock Show. This event is free to the public.

Wednesday night will be the finals of the Quarterhorse Show in the Coliseum and this too is free to the public.

Thursday is the opening night for the annual Rodeo show which will continue through Saturday night when the show closes.

Few Showers Possible for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A few showers and possibly some thundershowers may move into the southwest corner of Arkansas late Wednesday afternoon.

Fair skies and continued mild temperatures are expected in the rest of the state through Wednesday although precipitation may spread across Arkansas Thursday.

The precipitation will begin as an arctic air mass drifts east of the state, setting up a south wind over the western portion.

Temperatures in the state Monday rose into the 70s. No rainfall was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m.

Nasser's Death Likely to Bring Big Struggle for Power in Egypt

Egyptians to Cairo to Pay Respects

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptians headed toward Cairo by the thousands today to pay respects to their president, Gamal Abdel Nasser, who died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 52.

A state funeral is scheduled Thursday in the Egyptian capital. Cairo Radio said every railway station in the country was filled with peasants demanding passage to the capital. Mourners traveled the roadways in buses, in cars, on donkeys and on foot.

In the capital itself, crowds roamed the streets Monday night. People jammed buses and taxis for suburban Koubbeh, where the body of Nasser lay in state in the presidential palace. Others walked the dozen

Emotion May Turn Egypt Against U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

It will be a long time before the full impact of Gamal Abdel Nasser's death can be calculated, but it seems likely that it will release a vast torrent of emotion among a highly emotional and volatile people, and there is a good chance that this outburst will turn itself against the United States and the West.

The reasons are manifold. First, the Arabs will have a shocking sense of loss, a loss that cannot possibly be made up. As a leader Nasser is irreplaceable, and there is no sign of anyone on the horizon who can match his appeal.

Second, the Arabs are already in a highly nervous state over the situation in the Middle East, which has just witnessed the spectacle of Arabs slaughtering brother Arabs in Jordan's confusing and bloody civil war. Most Arabs blame that development on the West, on "imperialism," and particularly on the GENEVA (AP) — The last six hijack hostages still held in Jordan were turned over Tuesday to the delegates of the International Red Cross in Amman, Red Cross headquarters here said.

All are Americans.

The six were turned over at 4 p.m.—10 a.m., EDT—ending more than 24 hours of speculation over their whereabouts.

A Red Cross spokesman said headquarters had no further word from Amman but added it was believed certain that efforts would be made to fly them out as soon as possible.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egyptians are headed toward Cairo by the thousands to pay respects to their president, Gamal Abdel Nasser, who died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 52. Arab heads of state and foreign dignitaries were expected to be pallbearers at the funeral, scheduled Thursday, of Nasser, the most prominent of the Arab leaders.

PARIS (AP) — Experts on the Middle East predict a struggle in Egypt over determining a successor to President Nasser, with some diplomats forecasting a Soviet move to install a pro-Russian in his stead.

ABOARD THE U.S.S. SARATOGA (AP) — President Nixon has saluted the U.S. armed forces as the "peace power" of the United States and of the world in a speech delivered to the men of the U.S. 6th Fleet. He canceled a firepower demonstration scheduled for the Fleet out of respect to Egypt's late President Nasser.

An Arab truce team has taken positions to monitor the Jordanian cease-fire worked out by Egyptian President Nasser between government troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has set in motion regulations for school spending that some officials predict will prove as important as the civil rights laws of the 1960s. The Office of Education has told school districts that to qualify for federal aid under title I of the Elementary and Secondary Schools Act they must spend as many state and local tax dollars in schools serving low-income neighborhoods as in those in more affluent areas.

With even someone like Sabry in power—even if he continued to follow the Russian lead—Moscow could not count on having the influence it enjoyed through the proxy of a Nasser-sized figure, Western diplomats said. Adding to Moscow's worries, they said, is a growing undercurrent of anti-Russian feeling in Egypt, which they said extends from the man in the street to ranking government and military figures.

Other possible contenders mentioned for the president were:

—Zakaria Mohieddin, who was vice president and was named successor by Nasser following the 1967 war when Nasser resigned briefly, but Mohieddin declined the post. He is considered sympathetic to Washington.

—Lt. Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, commander in chief of the armed forces, who was entrusted with reshaping Egypt's demoralized military after the 1967 war.

—Mohammed Sidky Soliman, former prime minister and army officer, who was given main responsibility for the Aswan Dam project and now is president of the Soviet-Egyptian Friendship Society.

This is a reminder that from now on all Bobcat home games will start promptly at 7:30 p.m. . . this Friday night the local team takes on Malvern at Hainmons Stadium.

Sadat Will Not Be His Successor

PARIS (AP) — Experts on the Middle East predict a struggle in Egypt to succeed President Gamal Abdel Nasser, and some diplomats forecast a Soviet move to install a pro-Russian as his successor.

The uncertainty of the situation was summed up today by one official who said: "Nobody is going to know what's happening until somebody reads the will."

Arab, Israeli and Western diplomats in Paris agreed, however, that Vice President Anwar Sadat, one of the original members of Nasser's 1952 junta and now provisional president of Egypt, would not emerge as Nasser's successor.

An Israeli Embassy official predicted that members of the right-wing Muslim Brotherhood, holdovers from what the diplomat called the old military class, would move to establish a claim on Egyptian leadership. He did not rule out violence on the brotherhood's part.

An Egyptian, however, discounted the strength of the brotherhood in Egypt and mentioned the possibility of a bid for power by Ali Sabry, a Moscow protégé. Sabry heads the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only party, and directs the country's civil defense militia.

The Egyptian's reaction was seconded by senior Western diplomats in the French capital. They said the Russians would be forced to move to protect their military and political investment in Egypt.

This feeling was strengthened by the news that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin would attend Nasser's funeral.

On the whole, Westerners agreed that Nasser's death was a blow to Russian objectives in the region: Nasser was by far the principal Arab figure and had tied himself to Soviet policy.

With even someone like Sabry in power—even if he continued to follow the Russian lead—Moscow could not count on having the influence it enjoyed through the proxy of a Nasser-sized figure, Western diplomats said. Adding to Moscow's worries, they said, is a growing undercurrent of anti-Russian feeling in Egypt, which they said extends from the man in the street to ranking government and military figures.
